

Finding the Words

Category: Emergencies

written by Raelynn Vigue | November 14, 2022

A hush fell over the room as reality sank in. "He likely will not survive this," the surgeon said.

The patient's brow wrinkled in confusion. Why was everyone so quiet? His eyes met mine, pleading for a clue and awaiting my translation.

Suddenly, my years of studying Spanish felt like a blessing and a curse.

Raelynn Vigue

Doral, Florida