

1:45

Category: visuals

written by Martha Nance | May 3, 2019

Martha Nance

About the artist:

Martha Nance is a neurologist in Minnesota who specializes in neurodegenerative disorders. She has had a few works of narrative medicine published within the last year, but finds pictures, at times, to be worth a screenful of words.

About the artwork:

"It often comes as an unfortunate surprise (particularly for family members) when my Parkinson's patients struggle to 'draw a clock.' This is a collage of clocks, showing many different ways that people struggle to portray time. Should this person drive? Manage her own medications? The picture tells the story..."

Visuals editor:

Sara Kohrt